Definitions for Participant Count Information

- Direct: A count of participants involved. This includes individuals who are actively engaged in the ARISS contact and/or pre and post activities. Include audience members in this category.
- Indirect: A count of participants in enrichment activities. This includes presence at an event, but not necessarily direct active participation. An example is a large scale public event in which the ARISS contact is one component and many of the participants hear only a small portion of the ARISS contact or simply receive information about ARISS. Presence must be verified by on-site coordinator or facilitator who provides documentation of attendance.
